

October 25, 2019

Prof. Annamaria Iagnocco

Dear Prof. Iagnocco,

The ACR is excited to launch a new pilot program in the conjunction with the 2019 ACR/ARP Annual Meeting, ACR Education Partner Program. The intent of this pilot program is to encourage the development of activities to disseminate content from the 2019 ACR/ARP Annual Meeting to healthcare providers that treat patients with rheumatic diseases, including rheumatologists, dermatologists, primary care practitioners, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants. Attendees of the annual meeting can use these activities to reinforce their own learning and non-attendees will have the opportunity to deepen their learning and understanding of the key scientific data and most important advances in clinical rheumatology.

ACR has designated #ACR 2019: Highlights from the American College of Rheumatology Annual Meeting, developed and distributed by Infomedica, as an official ACR Approved Partner activity.

We are writing to you today to invite you to participate in this ACR Education Partner Program as a faculty expert, working directly with Infomedica.

If you have any questions about ACR's involvement, please contact me at pkilcullen@rheumatology.org.

Thank you for your consideration,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Pietra Kilcullen" with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Pietra Kilcullen
Specialist, Education Engagement
American College of Rheumatology
pkilcullen@rheumatology.org